

“Ethics & the Adlerian Practitioner: Implications for a Modern World” 3 CEs

With Daniel Williamson, Ph.D. and Jennifer Williamson, Ph.D.

Course Overview: As practitioners, Adlerians regularly face questions of ethics. Changes to the modern world continue to pose new challenges and unexpected ethical dilemmas. This course will explore how Adlerian Practitioners may reconcile personal and professional lifestyles with evolving knowledge as new challenges arise.

This course was presented in May 2011 at the Annual Conference of NASAP in Victoria, B.C. At that time it was a 4-hour course, however, that included a lot of dialog and discussion that is not contained in this home study version.

Course Objectives: Participants will explore standards of practice and how these principles inform appropriate ethical decision-making. They will also explore considerations for navigating changes in modern culture (i.e., technology and online social networking) within an ethical framework while remaining congruent with Adlerian principles.

Course Materials: You will receive the professionally recorded DVDs from Kennedy Recordings along with a test that is to be taken and returned once you have completed viewing the DVDs.

Course Activities:

This is basically a listening course. You have approximately two and a half hours of recordings to view and you can review them as often as you need to complete your exam. The exam is a multiple choice style exam, which covers the material in the recordings.

Course Fee: The fee for this course is $90 ($60 for NASAP members), which includes all course materials, scoring of your test, and a certificate of completion. Note that the DVD's alone are a $45.00 value.

Course Enrollment: To enroll in the course, send the appropriate Course Fee by check to the address below. You will be sent the materials and the test. Complete the course directions and mail your test to:
